Five Companies Celebrates Brian Manning, PE, F.ASCE, ENV SP, Named Engineer of the Year During Houston Engineers Week

Houston, Texas: Five Companies proudly announces that Brian Manning, PE, F.ASCE, ENV SP, Chief Executive Officer of MC2 Civil—a partner firm within Five Companies—has been recognized as Engineer of the Year. He will be honored at the “Engineer of the Year Gala” on February 27, which will conclude Houston Engineers Week.

This honor is especially notable as it is uncommon for a contractor to receive this distinction. Manning’s career reflects a strong integration of engineering expertise and construction leadership, ensuring projects are delivered with technical precision and practical execution.

Throughout his work across the Houston region, Manning has contributed to roadway, public works, and critical infrastructure projects that support mobility, resilience, and long-term growth. His leadership emphasizes collaboration among engineers, contractors, public agencies, and field teams, strengthening outcomes for the communities they serve.

“Brian’s recognition highlights the important connection between engineering and construction,” said Mark Boyer, Managing Principal of Five Companies and CEO of Boyer, Inc. “His leadership and commitment to excellence reflect the values that drive our industry forward.”

Five Companies congratulates Brian on this well-deserved recognition and extends its appreciation to the professionals who continue to build and maintain Houston’s essential infrastructure.

ABOUT HOUSTON ENGINEERS WEEK:

Houston Engineers Week recognizes that service to the public as a professional engineer is a noble and worthy profession. Houston Engineers Week is dedicated to promoting the profession of engineering as a social and economic force vital to the welfare of the community, the State of Texas, the United States of America, and all mankind.
